

CEC Assessment #4
Assessment of student teaching
Teacher Candidate Observation and Progress Report (TCOPR)

a. A brief description of the assessment and its use in the program

The Feinstein School of Education and Human Development developed a common assessment of student teacher/graduate intern performance, the Teacher Candidate Observation and Progress Report (TCOPR). This tool was developed with input from all programs in teacher education and identifies components of effective teaching. As a general tool for all, the TCOPR was further modified to focus the evaluation on both general principles of good teaching and to specifically address competencies consistent with the Individualized General Curriculum. Clarification of concepts has been added to the TCOPR evaluation rubric and a greater alignment with specific Individualized General Curricula (IGC) knowledge and skills. The TCOPR is the protocol used to describe a teacher candidate's ability to plan, act, and reflect upon his/her teaching in settings that involve students with mild/moderate disabilities at the elementary or middle school levels of education. During student teaching/graduate internship, the TCOPR is the formal documentation completed by both the college supervisor and cooperating teacher (both evaluators are certified as a Teacher of Students with Mild/Moderate Disabilities at the Elementary/Middle Level by the Rhode Island Department of Education), evaluating the teacher candidate formally three times during the teacher candidate's student teaching placement. The TCOPR describes the teacher candidate's ability to design instruction through lesson planning, implementation of the lesson, and reflection of lessons taught. The TCOPR is a broad performance evaluation measure of the teacher candidate's overall application of skills, knowledge and dispositions, addressing aspects of the CEC IGC Standards #2-10, and are interpreted based on the area of teacher candidate concentration (Elementary/Middle Level). Written comments on the TCOPR provide the teacher candidate further evaluation of skills demonstrated with specific feedback on his/her performance related to teaching elementary and middle school students with mild to moderate disabilities. The TCOPR, and subsequent performance indicators, began full implementation in Spring 2010. Prior to this time, another tool was used (as described in March 2010 CEC submission).

b. A description of how this assessment specifically aligns with the standards it is cited for in Section III. Cite SPA standards by number, title, and/or standard wording.

The TCOPR relates most directly to CEC Standards #2-10. Each standard is described below and aligned with TCOPR indicators in following sections.

CEC STANDARD 2: Development & Characteristics of Learners:

How assessment aligns with CEC Standard #2: The TCOPR requires elementary/middle graduate teacher candidates to use knowledge to respond to the varying abilities and behaviors of their students' exceptional learning needs (Attention (ICC2K7), Health (IGC2K2), Social-Emotional (IGC2K4), Educational Implications (ICC2K2)). One of the outcomes of the TCOPR is to document how well teacher candidates plan for the development and characteristics of their learners (ICC2K2) throughout student teaching. Lesson plans are developed and the lesson presented and evaluated using the TCOPR under the PLANNING section. Lesson plan implementation in inclusive settings addresses the similarities and differences (ICC2K5-6) of individuals with exceptional learning needs to provide lessons based using the age-appropriate general curriculum. Students with medical needs (ICC2K7, IGC2K3) and sensory needs (IGC2K5) are considered in planning the timing of lessons around health interventions and medications. The characteristics and effects of the cultural and environmental milieu of the individuals with exceptional learning needs are considered in lesson plan development (ICC2K3) in students' background knowledge and prerequisite skills (experiences, culture, language). The lesson plan must include modifications of instruction, materials, and written language to match students' challenges (IGC2K2). CEC Standard #2 is assessed primarily under TCOPR section: PLANNING Indicators.

CEC STANDARD 3: Individual Learning Differences:

How assessment aligns with CEC Standard #3: The TCOPR documents how well teacher candidates plan lessons that are responsive to learner differences and require individualized instruction. Elementary/middle graduate teacher candidates understand how contextual factors, such as language, culture, and familial backgrounds (ICC3K3), interact with students' exceptional learning needs (ICC3K1) and impact academic, social and career options (ICC3K2). Thus, one of the outcomes of TCOPR is to document how well teacher candidates understand their students' individual learning differences and use this knowledge in instructional planning and lesson implementation. Teacher candidates must design developmentally appropriate instruction that match the strengths and challenges of elementary and middle school level students with exceptional learning needs (medical/attentional challenges (IGC3K1), cultural beliefs and values (ICC3K3- K4), auditory/processing challenges (IGC3K2) and social challenges (ICC3K2). CEC Standard #3 is assessed primarily under TCOPR section: PLANNING Indicators.

CEC STANDARD 4: Instructional Strategies:

How assessment aligns with CEC Standard #4: The TCOPR documents an elementary/middle graduate teacher candidate's ability to employ instructional strategies to teach lessons that encourage critical thinking, problem solving, and performance skills. Teacher candidates must select, adapt and use instructional strategies, technology, and materials (ICC4S3, IGC4S7) to promote positive learning results (IGC4S3) for students with exceptional learning needs. Effective instructional strategies that promote learning for students in areas consistent with the lesson content (e.g., mathematics (IGC4S5), reading (IGC4S4), writing (IGC4S15-16)). Teacher candidates select and implement instructional strategies with older students with exceptional learning needs that incorporate instructional materials that match the students' level of understanding and pace of learning (IGC4S6) and need for generalization within and across curricula (IGC4S1) and promote successful transitions (ICC4S6, IGC4S8). Teacher candidates provide students feedback on their behavior, attention, and learning (IGC4S9, ICC4S3) and guide them using evidence based practice (ICC4S2, ICC4K1). Teacher candidates access specialized materials (IGC4K1), and resources (IGC4S8).

CEC Standard #4 is assessed primarily under TCOPR sections: PLANNING and ACTION : Implementation, Content, Climate, and Classroom Management.

CEC STANDARD 5: Learning Environments & Social Interactions

How assessment aligns with CEC Standard #5: The TCOPR is used to evaluate an elementary/middle graduate teacher candidate's ability to modify the learning environment (ICC5S5, IGC5K2-3) that promote active participation (ICC5S4). Teacher candidates create predictable use effective communication (ICC5K4, IIC5S2) and value diversity and encourage independence (ICC5S13-14), Teacher candidates employ techniques to provide students opportunities to give and receive meaningful feedback (IGC5S4, ICC5S10). Teacher candidates employ effective classroom behavior management strategies (ICC5S11) that promote positive feedback, (ICC5S10, ICC5S11, ICC5S7), student independence (ICC5S9). Teacher candidates modify instruction based on student performance (IGC5S6). Teacher candidates consider variety of current and future educational settings and community-based settings (IGC5S1, IGC5S3) in re-teaching and extending learning. CEC Standard #5 is assessed primarily under TCOPR sections: ACTION: Implementation, Climate, and Classroom Management.

CEC STANDARD 6: Language

How assessment aligns with CEC Standard #6: The TCOPR documents teacher candidate's skill in selecting technical resources (assistive technology) in lesson planning to consistent with student communication use (ICC6K4) culture (IGC6K2), language (ICC6K1, ICC6S2) and learning/vocabulary needs (IGC6S1). In lesson implementation elementary/middle graduate teacher candidates uses communication strategies and resources to facilitate understanding of subject matter (ICC6S2) consistent with student language development and secondary language understanding. Teacher candidates use effective augmentative and assistive communication, (ICC6K4, ICC6S1) to promote student learning and enhance communication. Teacher candidates also consider student communication in supporting their social/behavioral understanding (ICC6S1). Other language skills are used as appropriate to the lesson content (IGC6S1-enhance vocabulary, IGC6S2-spelling, IGC6S3-oral/written language, (IGC6S4) -legible documents). CEC Standard #6 is primarily assessed under TCOPR sections: PLANNING, ACTION: Implementation, Climate, and Classroom Management, and TECHNOLOGY.

CEC STANDARD 7: Instructional Planning

How assessment aligns with CEC Standard #7: The TCOPR documents teacher candidate's performance in instructional planning and implementation of lessons taught. Elementary/middle graduate teacher candidates present content in a scope and sequence consistent with general education (ICC7K2), but prioritized with input from team members to match the level of understanding of the students (ICC7S1, ICC7S2). Teacher candidates prepare lesson plans (ICC7S10) that differentiate goals and objectives (ICC7S6). Teacher candidates select, prepare and organized materials (ICC7S11) and assistive technology (ICC7S9, IGC7S4) instructional strategies (IGC7S2) to support student learning/content, social (ICC7S14), behavioral (IGC7S1) communication (IGC7S4) and cultural/linguistic factors (ICC7S8). Teacher candidates evaluate and modify instructional practices based on assessment data (ICC7S15). In their work with older students with exceptional learning needs, teacher candidates plan and implement age and ability appropriate instruction (IGC7S3), and design instructional programs that address independent living and career education within academic expanded core curriculum (IGC7S6). CEC Standard #7 is primarily assessed under TCOPR sections: PLANNING, ACTION: Implementation and Content, REFLECTION, and TECHNOLOGY.

CEC STANDARD 8: Assessment.

How assessment aligns with CEC Standard #8: In order to teach lessons/units to students, elementary/middle graduate teacher candidate's select (IGC8S3) and/or modify, (ICC8S4) and implement (ICC8S2, ICC8S8, IGC8S2) informal and informal assessments. Teacher candidate create and maintain records (ICC8S9) and report their information gained (ICC8S7, IGC8S1). Teacher candidates interpret behavior (IGC8S5) and learning change information from formal and informal assessments (ICC8S5, IGC8S5) to accommodate the unique abilities and needs of their students (IGC8S3). Candidates are continually guided by legal/ethical principles and best theory/practice as they make decisions about meaningful nonbiased assessments for their students. CEC Standard #8 is assessed primarily under TCOPR sections: PLANNING and ACTION: Implementation.

CEC STANDARD 9: Professional and Ethical Practice.

How assessment aligns with CEC Standard #9: Elementary/middle graduate teacher candidates project a professional image and regularly reflect upon/adjust their practice to effect student's progress (ICC9S1-S2). Teacher candidates communicate (verbal, non-verbal, and written) (ICC9S8) must convey strength-based language, and conform to all professional conventions (ICC9S8, ICC9S1-2). Attention to legal/ethical matters is critical throughout student teaching as well (ICC9S3). Teacher candidates continually reflect on their teaching practice (ICC9S11), to continually improve and develop the highest education and quality-of-life of their students (ICC9S5). CEC Standard #9 is assessed primarily under TCOPR sections: REFLECTION and PROFESSIONAL BEHAVIOR.

CEC STANDARD 10: Collaboration:

How assessment aligns with CEC Standard #10: Teacher candidates effectively collaborate with families, colleagues, and other related service providers/personnel in culturally responsive ways (ICC10S2), foster respectful relationships with families and professionals (ICC10S3) and work to families become active participants in IEP development implementation (ICC10S4-5). If students are age 14 or older in Rhode Island, elementary/middle graduate teacher candidates plan for the involvement of different agencies during the referral, assessment and service provision (as applicable) to students transitioning to adult life (IGC10S2, S4). Teacher candidates maintain confidential and effective communication (ICC10S1) in communication with families (ICC10S2), school personnel (ICC10S6, ICC10S11), and community members (ICC10S6). CEC Standard #10 is assessed primarily under TCOPR section: PROFESSIONAL BEHAVIOR.

c. A brief analysis of the data findings;

Spring 2010 and Fall 2010: Since the TCOPR was implemented (Spring 2010), data on candidates' performance on the TCOPR was collected for candidates in the M.Ed. Elementary/Middle Level Program in Mild/Moderate Disabilities. Data from this time period indicated that ALL (n=10) elementary/middle graduate teacher candidates either achieved the acceptable or target level on the overall assessment rating, and students similarly achieved acceptable or target on most rubric indicators. Teacher candidates are provided formalized feedback a total of six times throughout their placement at the elementary/middle school level. The data reported on the following table reflects the final teacher candidate performance from the college supervisor and the cooperating teacher.

d. An interpretation of how that data provides evidence for meeting standards: The overall assessment data indicate that Standards #2-10 are met as teacher candidates actively plan lessons, demonstrate specific actions, continuously reflect on their practice, and demonstrate professional practice throughout their student teaching clinical experience. Candidates must readily demonstrate their ability to understand and respond to the needs of individuals with exceptional learning needs. Data (n=10) for two semesters is quite small making it difficult to generalize a pattern of strengths/needs of elementary/middle graduate teacher candidates. Greater distinction between rubric element levels offer increased opportunity for assessing candidates ability to plan, act, and reflect on their practice during graduate internship.

SECTION TWO: CAPSULE RATING OF OBSERVED LESSON

In this final rating of the lesson, consider all available information about the lesson, its context and purpose, and your own judgment of the relative importance of the ratings you have made. Select the capsule description that best characterizes the lesson you observed. Keep in mind that this rating is not intended to be an average of all the previous ratings, but should encapsulate your overall assessment of the quality and likely impact of the lesson you just observed. Please provide a brief rationale for your final capsule description of the lesson in the space provided.

Unacceptable

Instruction is highly unlikely to enhance students' understanding of the discipline or to develop their capacity to successfully "do" the discipline. For example, instruction may be pedantic or uninspiring; students may be passive recipients of information from the teacher candidate or textbook; or material may be presented in a way that is inaccessible to many of the students. Alternatively, students may be involved in hands-on activities or other individual or group work, but it may appear to be activity for activity's sake, without a clear sense of purpose and/or a clear link to conceptual development.

Immediate intervention involving the college supervisor, cooperating teacher, and candidate is needed.

Approaching

Instruction contains some elements of effective practice, but there are problems in the design, implementation, content, and/or appropriateness for many students in the class. For example, the content may lack importance and/or appropriateness; instruction may not successfully address the difficulties that many students are experiencing, etc. Overall, the lesson is very limited in its likelihood to enhance students' understanding of the discipline or to develop their capacity to successfully "do" the discipline.

If this is other than a first observation, student performance at this level may indicate that intervention is needed.

Acceptable

Instruction is well-designed, purposeful and characterized by most elements of effective practice. Students are usually engaged in meaningful work, but there are some weaknesses in the design, implementation, or content of instruction. For example, instruction addresses the needs of most students, but the classroom climate may limit the effectiveness of an otherwise well-designed lesson. Overall, the lesson is likely to enhance students' understanding of the discipline and develop their capacity to successfully "do" the discipline.

Target

Instruction is purposeful and engaging. Students actively participate in meaningful work (e.g., investigations, student presentations, collaborative activities, physical demonstrations, reading) throughout the lesson. The lesson is well-designed and implemented. The teacher candidate is responsive to students' diverse needs and interests. Instruction enhances students' understanding of the discipline and develops their capacity to successfully "do" the discipline.
